

Behavioral Health Representative

A behavioral health professional, a behavioral health technician or a paraprofessional who is responsible for assisting the team in treatment planning, securing behavioral health services, and any other processes requiring involvement or facilitation from the behavioral health system. The behavioral health representative can also be the Clinical Liaison or work under their clinical direction.