Partners from health departments, environmental health services agencies, water suppliers, water safety programs, county partners, tribal partners, state agencies, & federal agencies are invited to participate in a simulated health emergency caused by a waterborne disease. The purpose of this exercise is to provide participants an opportunity to evaluate current response concepts, plans, and capabilities for a response to an outbreak in YOUR jurisdiction. The drill will focus on communication within your agency as well as with other local, state and federal partners. The simulation will focus on epidemiological and environmental investigation and response required for the event. The exercise also looks at what assets and resources may be needed to deal with the incident, as well as the role of public information to the overall response effort. Participants will be broken into small groups for roundtable discussion sessions. Special registration required.
