Toll-Free Number: 1-877-705-KIDS

Breastfeeding Support

Breast milk is the best food for babies. Babies who are breastfed are more likely to have fewer illnesses due to the antibodies in mother's breast milk. Some studies have also said that breastfed babies are less likely to become obese. Breastfeeding is also very helpful to mothers. It is more convenient than washing and sterilizing bottles and nipples and less expensive compared to purchasing formula and everything needed to bottle feed. In addition, breastfeeding helps to enhance bonding between mother and baby and mothers may get back in shape faster. There are government supports for breastfeeding women at work. There is also timely support available concerning questions about being successful at breastfeeding.

Child Care Assistance

The purpose of DES Child Care is to assist eligible families with child care costs, enabling parents to participate in employment and specific education and training activities related to employment or in certain other circumstances when parents are unable to provide care. Due to limited funding, a statewide waiting list may be implemented to identify families waiting to receive child care services. Although you may be determined eligible, you may have to wait to receive services. To receive Child Care Assistance you must apply for Child Care Assistance at your local DES Child Care Office

Phone: 602-542-4248

Child Care Resource and Referral

Child Care Resource and Referral (CCR&R) is a statewide program in Arizona that helps families find child care. CCR&R provides information about community trainings and resources for child care providers and the early childhood community. This program is funded by the Department of Economic Security, Child Care Administration. The CCR&R phone service is available Monday through Friday, 8:00 am - 5:00 pm and our website search is always available. Services are provided at no charge.

Toll-Free Number – 1-800-308-9000

Child Support Enforcement

The Child Support Enforcement program is a federal/state/local program that collects child support from parents who are legally obligated to pay. The goals are threefold:

- To ensure that children are supported by their parents,
- To foster family responsibility, and
- To reduce the costs of welfare to the taxpayer.

Research has shown that non-custodial parents who are involved financially in their child's life by paying their child support are also more likely to be involved in other aspects of their child's life, such as school or extra-curricular activities. When a parent does not pay child support, it places their child at risk of not having their basic needs met. This may put the custodial parent at risk of needing government-funded programs, such as cash assistance or food stamps, in order to meet those needs.

Postpartum Depression Support

Having a baby can bring great joy as well as feelings of sadness and anxiety. A number of new mothers have emotional mood swings and crying spells that come and go fairly quickly. This is also referred to as “baby blues” and can last up to a few weeks. For some women however, these feelings get stronger and last longer due to a number of reasons including changes in brain chemistry, hormone levels and lifestyle and it is important that they seek help from their doctors and or other national support centers.

Safe Haven Newborn Program

A parent or agent of the parent may deliver an unharmed infant who is 72 hours old or younger to a Safe Haven provider anonymously. The Safe Haven provider will offer the parent or agent of the parent written information about information and referral organizations but cannot make the parent of the parent’s agent answer any questions.

A Safe Haven provider is:

- A firefighter on duty,
- An emergency medical technician on duty,
- A medical staff person at a general hospital or a rural general hospital on duty,
- A staff member or volunteer at a licensed private child welfare agency which posts a public notice that it is willing to accept a newborn infant,
- A staff member or volunteer at a licensed private adoption agency which posts a public notice that it is willing to accept a newborn infant, and
- A staff member or volunteer at a church which posts a public notice that it is willing to accept a newborn infant.
