10 Ways to Empower Children to Live Healthy Lives

All of these recommendations should be adapted to meet the needs of children of all ages.

1. Facilities should encourage physical activities as part of their curriculum by scheduling at least 60 minutes of planned activity (which can be broken up in shorter time periods) per day. Encourage “sun safe” physical activities.
2. Limit kids’ screen time* to under one hour a day.
3. Avoid more than 60 minutes of sedentary activity at a time, except while the child is sleeping.
4. Offer water at least 4 times during the day.
5. Serve 1% low fat or fat free milk for all children over two years of age.
6. Serve only 100% percent fruit juice (with no added sugars), and limit kids to 4 to 6 ounces per day.
7. Serve meals family style and let the child decide how much to eat. Avoid rewarding good behavior or a clean plate with foods of any kind.
8. If able, participate in the USDA Child and Adult Care Food Program.
9. Facilities and homes should be totally (24-hour) smoke-free campuses.
10. All families should receive education and referrals regarding tobacco prevention cessation and second hand smoke at least 4 times per year.

*Screen time includes: TV/DVD, Computer, and Video Games.

Family-style meal service means serving foods in bowls or dishes (of any kind) on the table. Children are encouraged to serve themselves or serve themselves with help from an adult. Caregivers eat the same food, promote healthy eating habits, and create a positive meal-time environment. Enough food must be placed on the table to provide the full required portion size for all the children at the table.

Note: Programs operating 6 hours or less would alter the activity schedule, screen time, and the number of times water is offered by ½.

This program addresses obesity in young children through various channels. After the legislature cut funding that paid to license child care centers, licensing fees increased for the first time in 30 years, putting some centers at risk of closure. ADHS found federal Title V grant funds and Proposition 302 dedicated tax funds that had served a similar purpose, to supplement the increased fees for those who participate.
