Some things a baby with normal hearing should be able to do:

Birth to 3 Months of Age
- Blinks or jumps when there is a sudden, loud sound
- Quiets or smiles when spoken to
- Makes sounds like “ohh,” “ahh”

3 to 6 Months of Age
- Looks for sounds with eyes
- Starts babbling (“baba,” “mama,” “gaga”)
- Uses many sounds, squeals, and chuckles

6 to 9 Months of Age
- Turns head toward loud sounds
- Understands “no-no” or “bye-bye”
- Babbles, for example “baba,” “mama,” “gaga”

9 to 12 Months of Age
- Repeats simple words and sounds you make
- Correctly uses “mama” or “dada”
- Responds to singing or music
- Points to favorite toys and objects when asked

If you have questions about your baby’s hearing or this list, talk with your baby’s health professional.

Why does my baby need another hearing test?

- Some babies may need another test because:
  - fluid in the ear
  - noise in the testing room
  - baby was moving alot
  - baby has hearing loss

- Most babies who need another hearing test have normal hearing. Some will have hearing loss.

Why is it so important to have another hearing test as soon as possible?

- Testing is the only way to know if a baby has a hearing loss.
- The earlier a hearing loss is found, the better it is for the baby.
- If your baby has a hearing loss, there are many ways we can help your baby.

Finding hearing loss early can make a big difference in your baby's life.

What will happen during my visit?

- A hearing specialist (an audiologist) will test your baby and tell you the results or tell you if more tests are needed.
- The test is safe and painless.
- A few babies will need a more complete set of hearing tests, so you may be asked to bring your baby back.
- If your baby needs more testing, get it done as soon as possible.

Can a newborn baby pass the hearing test and still have hearing loss?

- Yes, some babies hear well enough to pass the first test, but lose their hearing later because of:
  - some illnesses
  - some medicines
  - some injuries
  - a family history of hearing loss

- Watch for signs of hearing loss as your baby grows.
- Use the list on the back cover as a guide.
- If you have questions about your baby's hearing, talk to your baby's health professional.
