INTRODUCTION

The Arizona Medically Underserved Areas (AzMUA) report is prepared by the Arizona Department of Health Services (ADHS), as mandated by A.R.S. § 36-2352, and used for planning the delivery of primary care services. Within the ADHS Division of Public Health Prevention Services, the Bureau of Women's and Children's Health (BWCH) is responsible for activities associated with the implementation of A.R.S. § 36-2352.

BWCH is responsible for assisting communities in obtaining both state and federal shortage designations. Additionally, BWCH manages the Primary Care Provider Loan Repayment Program (A.R.S. § 36-2172), which provides loan repayment incentives for public and private non-profit providers working in Health Professional Shortage Areas (HPSAs) and the Rural Private Primary Care Provider Loan Repayment Program (A.R.S. § 36-2174), which provides loan repayment incentives for rural private for-profit providers working in HPSAs or AzMUAs.

CRITERIA

The AzMUA designation process begins with the identification of rational service areas in Arizona which reflect demographics, political subdivisions, and primary care utilization patterns. These areas, called Primary Care Areas (PCAs), are created using a repeatable methodology that will be implemented each decade to reflect the most recent decennial census. This process recently occurred, and the updated PCA boundaries will be used in the next AzMUA (2026) report once fully adopted. The PCAs have size limits, both in area and population, which make them conducive to small area statistical analysis.

The Primary Care Index is used to assign points to each PCA based on data gathered from state and federal agencies on indicators that include: population-to-primary care physician ratio; travel distance to nearest primary care physician; poverty; health insurance status; low birthweight birth rate; late or no prenatal care; infant mortality rate; and presence of populations that experience health disparities, such as elderly, youth, people with disabilities, communities of color, and those who speak a language other than English.

PCAs scoring in the top 25% or having a score greater than 30 (out of a possible 65) on the Primary Care Index are designated as AzMUAs. Additionally, by Arizona Statute, all federally designated Primary Care HPSAs are also considered AzMUAs. AzMUA designations are valid for two years.

AZMUA RULES

AzMUA rules underwent revisions in 2020 to modernize data indicators and streamline processes. The revised Primary Care Index includes fewer metrics than the old version, but focuses on those that are known to impact access to primary care and have easily accessible data sets. The new 9 A.A.C. 24, Article 1, rules for Arizona Medically Underserved Areas may be viewed in the Arizona Administrative Register.

REPORT COMPONENTS

In accordance with A.R.S. § 36-2352, this Biennial AzMUA Report presents a comprehensive list and map of the currently designated PCAs, along with a summary of the resources allocated to communities based on their AzMUA designation. This includes a detailed listing and map of the current Arizona State Loan Repayment Program sites. Additionally, the administrative rules governing both the Primary Care Provider Loan Repayment Program and the Rural Private Primary Care Provider Loan Repayment Program are provided. The report also highlights the findings of the Primary Care Index scoring, which serves as a statewide primary care needs assessment for Arizona's Primary Care Office.

SUMMARY

Of Arizona's 126 PCAs, 83 are currently designated as AzMUAs. This is an increase of one AzMUA from the last biennial report published in 2022 (Flagstaff). Only two of the PCAs designated as an AzMUA in this report (Flowing Wells and Tucson Foothills) are not currently designated as primary care HPSAs.

PCA scores on the Primary Care Index ranged from 2 to 52, out of a possible 65 points. See page 4 for the criteria included in the Primary Care Index, and associated scoring. Five of the top ten highest need PCAs based on this index are tribal areas: Navajo Nation, Colorado River Indian Tribe, Hualapai Tribe, White Mountain Apache Tribe, and Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation. Twelve AzMUAs lie within American Indian Tribal land.

Through the use of AzMUA designations, resources can be targeted to those communities facing the greatest challenges in the provision of primary care services. The Department continues to work closely with communities and organizations in exploring appropriate designation, supporting expansion of primary health care services, and improving access to primary health care through workforce recruitment and retention programs.

Further information regarding the designation of medically underserved areas is available from the ADHS Primary Care Office via email at workforce@azdhs.gov.

AzMUA Maps

Assessment Findings: Summary

Of Arizona's 126 PCAs, 83 are currently designated as AzMUAs. Only two of the PCAs designated as an AzMUA (Flowing Wells and Tucson Foothills) are not currently designated as a primary care HPSA.

PCA scores on the Primary Care Index ranged from 2 to 52, out of a possible 65 points. Five of the top ten highest need PCAs based on this index are tribal areas: Navajo Nation, Colorado River Indian Tribe, Hualapai Tribe, White Mountain Apache Tribe, and Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation. Twelve AzMUAs lie within American Indian Tribal land.

Assessment Findings: Health Workforce Issues

Of Arizona's 126 PCAs, 21 have a population-to-primary care physician ratio of greater than 5,000:1, or no primary care physicians in their community at all. Of these, 10 are rural areas and 11 are urban areas.

Travel distance to the nearest primary care physician (PCP) ranged from 2 to 73 miles. Of the eight PCAs with longest travel distance, half are tribal areas and all are rural or frontier.

According to National Center for Health Workforce Analysis projections, by year 2035 Arizona will have just 61% of the primary care providers needed - in the worst quartile in the country for primary care adequacy. Arizona would need an additional 493 primary care physicians to erase current Health Professional Shortage Areas (HPSAs).

Rural communities are disproportionately challenged with access to primary care. Approximately two-thirds of the current primary care HPSAs in Arizona are in rural or partially rural areas. While the rate of primary care physicians to 100,000 population is up in the range of 72-105 in Arizona's urban counties, in ten Arizona rural counties that rate is under 55 (HRSA Area Health Resources Files).

Assessment Findings: Socioeconomic Factors

Poverty and lack of health insurance are known barriers to care. Rate of uninsured among PCAs ranged from 1.7% in Sun City West to 40% in Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation (a tribal area). The majority of the twenty PCAs with lowest rates of uninsured are in Maricopa and Pima Counties, which contain the Phoenix and Tucson metro areas, and many of those PCAs with the lowest rates contain retirement communities. Of the twenty-five PCAs that have uninsured rates of 16% or higher, 10 are urban and 9 are tribal areas.

Percent of population under 200% of the federal poverty level ranged from 70% in San Carlos Apache Tribe to about 9% in Tanque Verde. Again, we see tribal areas overrepresented among the highest need PCAs in this category. The seven highest poverty rates are all in tribal PCAs. The rate of individuals living under the federal poverty level is 29.0% for American Indians in Arizona, compared to 9.7% for White Arizonans.

Assessment Findings: Maternal and Child Health Indicators

Arizona's Primary Care Index incorporates three maternal and child health indicators: infant mortality rate per 1,000 live births, percent of births that are low birthweight, and percent of births in which mothers received late or no prenatal care. In the ten highest need areas, infant mortality rates were over 7.9, more than 9.6% of births were low birthweight, and over 20.5% of new mothers received late or no prenatal care. PCAs with the highest twenty rates were classified by type (rural, urban or tribal). Rural and tribal communities are overrepresented among those with the highest rates of low birthweight babies, as well as late or no prenatal care.

The disparities in maternal and birth outcomes by rurality are not surprising, as many women living in rural areas must travel significant distances to obtain prenatal care and to deliver their babies. According to a 2023 March of Dimes report, 26% of women in rural Arizona live over 30 minutes from a birthing hospital, compared to 7% of women living in urban areas. One rural county in Arizona (Greenlee) is designated as a maternity care desert (offering no maternity care) and three additional rural counties (Graham, Cochise and La Paz) have limited access to maternal care.

Assessment Findings: Other Factors

Several metrics that can impact health care utilization or are considered social determinants of health are included in the Primary Care Index. These include elderly population; youth population; population living with a disability (physical, mental or sensory impairment); communities of color (individuals who self-identify their race as anything other than non-Hispanic White); and those who speak a language other than English in their home. PCAs with the top 5 rates in each of these metrics are displayed below.

In each of these categories, we can identify similarities among PCAs with highest rates. PCAs with large elderly populations - and many with large populations of individuals with disabilities - have planned retirement communities within. The majority of those with large youth population are tribal areas. Tribal areas and border communities are predominately people of color. Likewise, four of the five largest populations speaking a language other than English reside in Mexico/U.S. border communities and the remaining is a tribal area.
